

Prop 102 The so-called “Marriage Amendment”

Vote NO again.

Trust the people.

- Voting on the marriage issue is not important to people. We'd rather focus on more important issues like health care, immigration, energy policy, and the economy.
- Arizona has a budget deficit, our schools need help and we need to stop illegal immigration. But what does the state legislature spend their time debating? Marriage--even though marriage is already defined as between a man and a woman. We need to stop wasting time debating the definition of marriage.
- Why won't politicians listen to us? Do they think we're dumb? In 2006 we voted no, and now they are back at it again, putting divisive issues on the ballot. Forty-nine legislators should not be able to overturn the voters on this issue.
- Marriage in Arizona is already defined in the law as between one man and one woman. There is no reason to change the Constitution.
